

World of Warcraft - Account Change Notice

1 message

noreply@blizzard.com <noreply@blizzard.com>

Sat, Jan 9, 2010 at 3:08 AM

To:

Greetings!

This is an automated notification regarding your World of Warcraft account. Some or all of your contact information was recently modified through the Account Management website.

 If you made recent account changes, please disregard this automatic notification.

You can login to Account Management at the following link to review your account settings:

<http://www.worldofwarcraft.com/account/>

 If you did NOT make any changes to your account, we recommend you change your password and make appropriate corrections as soon as possible to ensure account security.

If you cannot sign into Account Management using the link above, or if unauthorized changes continue to happen, please contact Blizzard Billing & Account Services for further assistance.

Billing & Account Services can be reached at 1-800-59-BLIZZARD (1-800-592-5499 Mon-Fri, 8Am-8PM Pacific Time) or at billing@blizzard.com.

Account security is solely the responsibility of the accountholder. Please be advised that in the event of a compromised account, Blizzard representatives will typically lock the account. In these cases the Account Administration team will require faxed receipt of ID materials before releasing the account for play.

Regards,
The World of Warcraft Support Team
Blizzard Entertainment
<http://www.blizzard.com/support/wowindex/>
